Meeder Tactical Investment Philosophy

Multi-discipline/Multi-factor

Years of navigating various market cycles have influenced our holistic approach to managing money. Our investment philosophy encourages a multidimensional view, as we believe there are multiple forces that influence the market, and many ways to achieve investment objectives. This wide view of the markets, and our quantitative process, allows us to customize solutions and services for a variety of clients.

The Meeder Difference

A More Holistic Approach

We are dedicated to helping financial advisors and their clients achieve success. Using a model-driven, multi-discipline/multi-factor approach to investing, our objective is to improve outcomes for investors with varying goals.

Meeder Funds and Meeder Investment Portfolios

We offer a full spectrum of mutual funds, including asset allocation, global/international, equity, and fixed income funds. Our asset allocation portfolios are constructed using proprietary mutual funds and combine our Equity, Defensive Equity and Fixed Income strategies, which are designed to complement one another in an effort to achieve client objectives.

Growth Strategy

The Growth Strategy is a constrained tactical strategy that can shift exposure primarily among equity securities including sector over and underweights, international securities, and market capitalization ranges.

Defensive Equity Strategy

The Defensive Equity Strategy is an unconstrained tactical strategy that can shift from equity securities to cash or fixed income securities when the risk/reward relationship of the stock market is deemed unfavorable.

Fixed Income Strategy

The Fixed Income Strategy is a strategy that can shift between U.S. government and agency securities, investment-grade bonds, high-yield corporate bonds, and international debt. It also incorporates duration management to maneuver between short or long duration positions.
